KEY RISKS

WHAT ARE THE KEY RISKS OF THIS INVESTMENT?

The value of the product and its dividends or coupons may rise or fall. These risk factors may cause you to lose some or all of your investment.

Refer to Section 9 on page 8 of the Prospectus for further information on risks of the product.

Market and Credit Risks

• You are exposed to market risks

Prices of securities and derivatives may go up or come down in response to changes in economic conditions, market conditions, interest rates and perception of the securities, which in turn may cause the prices of the Units in the Fund to rise or fall.

• Currency movements can affect the value of your investments

The Fund invests in a variety of foreign securities which are denominated in foreign currencies, whereas the net asset value of the Fund will be computed in Singapore dollar. Changes in the exchange rates between the Singapore dollar and other currencies may have a negative impact on the value of the Fund.

• You are exposed to credit risks

The Fund may invest in debt obligations. The Fund may suffer a loss of interest or principal on any of its holdings of such debt if the issuer of the debt obligation defaults on the payments of interest or principal. The Fund may be exposed to credit risk on parties with whom it trades in certain countries which may result in the loss of capital and cause the value of your Units to fall.

Refer to Section 9 on page 8 of the Prospectus for further information on risks of the product.

Liquidity Risks

•The Fund is not listed and you can redeem only on Dealing Days

- There is no secondary market for the Fund. All redemption requests should be made to the Manager.
- The Manager may, with the approval of the Trustee, suspend the issue, cancellation and realisation of Units during certain circumstances specified in the Prospectus and Trust Deed.

Refer to Sections 12 and 15 on pages 19 and 22 respectively of the Prospectus for further information on realisation and suspension of dealing of the product.

Product-Specific Risks

• You are exposed to risks of Investing in Underlying Collective Investment Schemes (CIS)

There can be no assurance that the selection of the managers of the underlying collective investment schemes will result in an effective diversification of investment styles and that positions taken by the underlying collective investment schemes will always be consistent.

•Duplication of costs when investing in Underlying CIS (including ETFs)

The Fund incurs similar costs in its capacity as an investor in the underlying collective investment schemes (including ETFs) which in turn pay similar fees to their managers and other service providers. The Manager will endeavour to reduce duplication of management charges by negotiating rebates where applicable in favour of the Fund.

Refer to Section 9 on page 8 of the Prospectus for further information on risks of the product.

•You are exposed to risks of investing in Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs) and Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs)

The value of ETFs will generally fluctuate with changes in the market value of the underlying shares as well as supply and demand for the units in the ETFs. REITs are dependent on specialized management skills, may have limited diversification and may be subject to risks inherent in financing a limited number of properties.

•You are exposed to derivatives risks

The Manager may use financial derivative instruments, including futures, options, warrants, forwards, contracts for differences, extended settlement contracts, swaps or swap options for the purpose of hedging existing positions in a portfolio or efficient portfolio management. The use of derivatives may negatively impact the value of the Fund and the Fund may suffer greater losses than if the Fund had not used derivatives. At the worst case, investors may lose all their funds invested if the Fund is fully exposed to derivative positions that move against the Manager’s judgment.

•You are exposed to securities lending or repurchase transaction risks

The Fund may carry out securities lending and repurchase transactions for the sole purpose of efficient portfolio management. Securities lending and repurchase transactions involve counterparty risk/credit risk, liquidity risk, sufficiency of collateral risk, collateral investment risk, delivery risk and operational risk.
